CRS	High Ropes	CRS	CRS	Adevnture zone	Brownies, Guides, Rangers	Height	N/A	provided		own	Saturday 9am- 6pm and Sunday 9am- 2pm	Helmets should be worn when doing this activity where this is considered best practice by the centre for their course. Make sure girls wear appropriate clothing, remove loose jewellery, and wear closed toe shoes.	The minimum requirement for this activity is site-specific sign-off. The instructor responsible for the sign-off must have a minimum of a Mountain Training UK (MTUK) Mountaineering and Climbing Instructor (MCI) qualification or European Ropes Course Association (ERCA) trainer qualification. Ask the centre whether this is the case. The instructor must be directly assessed by the MCI or ERCA instructor and the certificate signed by that person, and this may not be subcontracted to another less qualified person (no matter how suitably experienced). It must be renewed annually, although if the activity provider holds an ERCA endorsed certificate, then the expiry date on that is also acceptable.

Many centres and climbing walls have their instructors assessed by other instructors. Site-specific sign-off is accepted by Girtguiding, as long as the instructor has a minimum of a Climbing Wall Development Instructor (CWDI) qualification. Ask the centre whether this is the case. The instructor must be directly assessed by the CWDI instructor and the certificate signed by that person, and this may not be subcontracted to another less qualified person (no matter how suitably experienced). It must be renewed annually.

Make sure girls wear appropriate clothing, remove loose jewellery, and wear closed toe shoes.	Instructors must have high-ropes-specific training and assessment run or moderated by a Mountaineering and Climbing Instructor (MCI) holder or a European Ropes Course Association trainer. Leaders should check the minimum weight requirement with centres before booking to make sure there's no risk of participants getting stuck on the course. When asking for written confirmation of the venue's risk assessment, ask for what the centre does if a participant comes to a halt on the course. Check with the course instructor that landing zones are clear and have softer material to cushion landings if necessary.
